

AISHA WILLIAMS
DIRECTOR, PARTNERSHIPS & BLENDED FINANCE

Aisha joined IFC in 2005 and has held several positions in investment, regional and corporate roles, including Special Assistant to the Vice President for Europe and the Middle East, Country Manager for Turkey, Director of Corporate Strategy and most recently Director for Partnerships and Blended Finance. In this role, she leads the team responsible for IFC's efforts to raise and deploy concessional donor funding in order to unlock private investment for development. To date, IFC manages approximately $7 billion of donor funds, including IDA Private Sector Window, a multi-billion-dollar blended finance facility focused on the poorest and most fragile and conflict-affected countries.

Prior to joining IFC, Aisha worked as a strategy consultant with McKinsey & Co. in Chicago, USA, specializing in financial institutions. Aisha holds an MSc in Development Economics from Oxford University, an MBA from Kellogg School of Management (Northwestern University) and a B.A. from Princeton.

Aisha is a dual citizen of the United States and Trinidad & Tobago.

IFC, a member of the World Bank Group, is the largest global development institution focused exclusively on the private sector. Working with private enterprises in about 100 countries, we use our capital, expertise, and influence to help eliminate extreme poverty and boost shared prosperity. In FY14, we provided more than $22 billion in financing to improve lives in developing countries and tackle the most urgent challenges of development. For more information, visit www.ifc.org
